Supporting you locally
2017-18
Our mission:
We look after doctors so they can look after you.

Our values:

Expert
We are an indispensable source of credible information, guidance and support throughout doctors’ professional lives.

Committed
We are committed to all doctors and place them at the heart of every decision we make.

Reliable
We are doctors’ first port of call because we are trusted and dependable.

Challenging
We are unafraid to challenge effectively on behalf of all doctors.

Leading
We are an influential leader in supporting the profession and improving the health of our nation.
Welcome to BMA south east coast

The BMA has many regional structures, representatives and staff who are here to help and represent you. This pamphlet is aimed at both those considering getting involved at a local level and those with issues that they would like to raise. We hope that it will help to demystify our structures and to clearly signpost you to your local representatives.

Local BMA staff from the member relations directorate are here to assist you.

Member employment relations staff (Senior/ Employment Advisors) will generally deal with individual queries and employment issues, Local member engagement relations staff (Regional Co-ordinators and Industrial Relations Officers/ Managers) deal with collective issues and support LNCs and Specialist member relations deal with pensions queries and provide the employer advisory service.

BMA structures work together in the region and we have tried to explain more about each over the next few pages.
The diagram below is a simplified version of our current structures. Reporting structures may vary. Individual members can get directly involved in any of these local structures (green and blue boxes).

For individual employment issues please contact:

support@bma.org.uk / 0300 123 1233 between 08.30 to 18.00 Monday to Friday / bma.org.uk/contact-bma
Your regional council

BMA regional councils operate in England. Regional councils are open to all BMA members and provide a forum for discussing matters of regional interest and issues affecting the profession across all branches of practice. There are ten regional councils in England:

- East Midlands
- Eastern
- London
- North East
- North Western
- South Central
- South East Coast
- South West
- West Midlands
- Yorkshire and Humber

The South East Coast Regional Council provides a focus for BMA activity at a regional level, delivering BMA policy and providing a communication link between the council and the BMA UK council. The SECRC brings together all BMA members across the South East Coast to discuss issues affecting the profession. You can raise issues with the SECRC via email: htownsend@bma.org.uk

Representing you at a local level

Doctors and medical students are also represented through branch of practice committees, divisions, and our network of LNCs and LMCs.

Committees meet regularly to consider issues affecting the medical profession and patient healthcare in the south east coast area and are supported by BMA staff from the members’ relations directorate.

Every BMA member in the south east coast region belongs to one of 13 local divisions, which represent members in all disciplines geographically. Each has a secretary, a chair and other executive committee members. BMA divisions submit motions to the ARM (annual representative meeting) which, if passed, become national BMA policy.

We have also established a network of LNCs (local negotiating committees) in trusts throughout the region. These committees ensure that the voice of the medical profession is heard by management in the workplace. Your representatives make sure that the interests of doctors are protected in negotiations on terms and conditions of service through these LNCs.

Representatives of all local LNCs meet at the regional LNC Forum to discuss all local issues and to share best practice.

LMCs represent GPs and practice teams in their negotiations with decision makers and stakeholders from health and local government to get the best services for patients.

LMCs contribute to the wider activities of the BMA in the region but are not BMA committees, rather they are independent statutory bodies. Members of the LMC are elected by local GPs.

Representing branches of practice

Working across the South Eastern region, there are branch of practice committees that feed in local members’ comments and views to the national branch of practice committees.

Regional consultants committees
These are the representative bodies for all consultants in SEC area RCC members are elected to the consultants committee and provide an important link between the national body and the BMA locally.

The RCCs also provide a source of expert advice regionally for directors of public health, the deaneries, regional advisory committees on clinical excellence awards, strategic health organisations and local authorities.

Southern Regional Consultants Committee
Chair: Dr Selwyn D’Costa

Regional SAS committees
These are the representative bodies for all SAS doctors in the South East Coast area. Regional SASC members are elected to the UK SAS committee and provide an important link between the national body and the BMA locally.

Southern Regional SAS Committee
Acting Chair: Dr Adrian Simoes

Regional junior doctor committees
These committees are the voice of junior doctors living and working in the South East Coast area – they represent members locally and send representatives to the main junior doctors committee.

South Thames Regional Junior Doctors Committee
Chair: Dr Kitty Mohan and Dr Sarah Hallett

Divisions

All BMA members are allocated to a local division. Divisions provide an opportunity for members to discuss issues that impact on all branches of practice and to debate local matters with other members in the area.

If you are actively involved with your division, don’t miss out on the D circulars, which contain important information about upcoming events such as the ARM (Annual Representative Meeting). You can also download our support guide on our website for honorary secretaries describing what divisions can do.

Local Medical Committees (LMCs) are independent, self-financing bodies statutorily recognised by successive NHS Acts as the sole professional organisation representing GPs and their practices. They represent the interests of all NHS GPs; pastorally supporting and advising individual GPs and representing GPs and their practices as providers within their local Clinical Commissioning Group. They interact and work with, and through, the General Practitioners Committee. They are not regional BMA offices.

There are two LMC conferences per year. One is a UK conference and the other is an England LMC conference.

Locally, LMCs hold various social and educational events throughout the year.

Industrial relations support

We employ a team of experienced and specialist staff to support members in all branches of practice. Industrial Relations Officers (IROs) support LNCs, provide advice on terms and conditions of service and take up collective issues on our members’ behalf with employers.

We also undertake detailed negotiations and consultations with government and NHS employers, making sure that the voice of the medical profession is heard, and that doctors’ views are effectively communicated at every level.

These are the Industrial Relations Officers (IROs) for the South Eastern region, with the employers they cover:

South east coast online community

The BMA wants to engage with its members in their locality as well as nationally. To do this we have set up several communication channels including regular newsletters and online communities.

There is a new community for the south east coast which is a platform to share thoughts, ideas and comments.

This forum also aims to help to better communicate what your Regional Council and the BMA is doing on your behalf. Please help us to make this a successful platform and share your views.

https://www.bma.org.uk/connecting-doctors/bmalocal/south-east-members-area/
Childcare

We have a family-friendly fund to help our committee members participate fully in current expenses-qualifying activities. We can provide care facilities for children under 14 years and adults and children requiring care. If you require care for a dependent you must request this four weeks before the event or meeting. For more information or for an application form contact your committee secretariat or BMA staff contact. See bma.org.uk/about-the-bma/equality-and-diversity/care-guidelines for the full guidelines and conditions.

You can claim for reasonable childcare costs incurred while attending BMA meetings as follows:

The expenses should be those which are necessary, reasonable and additional to the childcare costs you would be paying had you not been attending a BMA meeting on the day in question. For example; an additional amount paid to a casual carer because of an earlier start and/or later finish; paying for childcare on a day when you would otherwise be looking after the child/children yourself.

Free childcare is available at BMA House (in the form of a mobile crèche), provided you give sufficient notice for meetings at BMA House.

If you bring your children with you, please use transport companies that offer free travel for children and babies — children under five years travel free on trains and children under two years travel free on aeroplanes.

Contact the relevant committee secretary in advance of booking travel for more information and to seek approval of additional costs.
