

Protecting patients, protecting this practice

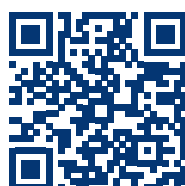

For too long, patients in England haven't received the service they deserve, and GPs have been overwhelmed and overstretched.

That's why in this practice, we've adopted the British Medical Association's Safe Working Guidance.

What does this mean for you?

In short, when we're at capacity, we may direct you to other services like your local pharmacy or NHS 111 if appropriate. We will always prioritise our most vulnerable patients.

Following this guidance is all about putting patient safety first – GPs are on your side.
