

The Definitive Guide to Inclisiran Dispensing

Inclisiran (Levgvio) is one of the drugs listed in Part VIIIC of the Drug Tariff - Arrangements of Payment for Products Supplied Free of Charge or Products with a Nominal Price (England). These products are available from a manufacturer or supplier at a nominal price that is significantly below the NHS list price for the product because of a commercial arrangement between NHS England and the manufacturer or supplier of the product.

The negotiated reimbursement price is £60.00, and there is no Discount Abatement (Clawback).

As it is a PA, you will also get the VAT Equivalent on £60.00 = £12.00. Thus, your total reimbursement will be £72.00.

Novartis supply Inclisiran via AAH only and it does not count towards a low-cost surcharge. Novartis (via AAH) are charging pharmacies and dispensaries £45.00 plus VAT. If the Inclisiran is administered at your practice, then you cannot claim the VAT back from HMRC.

Your total cost will be £45.00 plus £9.00 (VAT) = £54.00.

You will make a profit of £18.00.

This is applicable to both dispensing and non-dispensing practices.

Some of you may have noticed on ePACT data that clawback had been applied – this was because NHSE failed to notify NHSBSA that Inclisiran has become the first product for dispensing doctors that will not have clawback applied. NHSBSA are now aware and will be correcting reimbursement and giving practices that have dispensed Inclisiran up to now, the clawback (£6.71 per pack) as well as the additional VAT that should have been paid (£1.34 per pack). Moving forward NHSBSA will ensure that all doctors that dispense Inclisiran will receive the full £60.00 as well as the VAT Equivalent of £12.00.
